(<https://visitindiana.com/blog/index.php/2012/05/23/milk-cow-music-festival-at-fair-oaks-farms/fair-oaks-farms-3/>) Fair Oaks Farms (http://www.fofarms.com/en/home#Scene_1) is one of my favorite Indiana pitstops, a great place to stop and take a break when on a road trip along I-65 in the northwest part of the state. While it's an unlikely spot for family fun (its main purpose is supplying milk and other dairy products to customers all over the United States!), the farm has a little something for every traveler: great food, beautiful outdoor space, educational tours, interactive exhibits and play areas.

On June 2, Fair Oaks Farms will add concert venue to its growing list of purposes when it hosts the Milk Cow Music Festival. (Great name, huh?) There will be live music from country acts Little Texas (<http://www.littletexasonline.com/>) and Amber Martin, a barbeque competition, car show, and more. Tickets are $25 and can be purchased online here (<http://www.ticketweb.com/t3/sale/SaleEventDetail?dispatch=loadSelectionData&eventId=4388965>). A ticket will provide you full access to the farm, so if you've never been, this would be a great time to plan a visit.

If you can't make it to the festival on June 2, mark your calendar for June 23 when Travis Tritt will perform. Tickets to this show are $35.
